CAREER PLANNING

A Career Plan is a flexible tool to guide you in making decisions regarding courses, extra-curricular activities, part-time jobs, internships, and special projects. Each year of college, your courses and activities provide experiences upon which to build and revise a Career Plan. Create your initial plan and follow up with periodic assessments, additions, and revisions. The results are a better picture of who you are, what you can do, where you want to go, and how to get there. The ideas below will help you get started on your path to success!

EXPLORE

- Enroll in core/general education courses at McKendree to explore different career areas
- Consider taking an online assessment if feeling uncertain about your interests and abilities and how those relate to majors and/or careers. Request directions and passwords from Career Services
- Familiarize yourself with our website at www.mckendree.edu/careerservices, and follow us on Facebook, Instagram, and LinkedIn to stay updated on a variety of areas
- Conduct informational interviews with people in your area of interest. Information can be found in our office regarding this area
- Obtain a part-time job to gain valuable experience. You can search for jobs on McKendree's Handshake online job system by going to the My McK page and clicking on Handshake

PREPARE

- Create or update your résumé, and view the Career Planning Guides for a wealth of information. Contact Career Services for assistance in getting started or have our office review your résumé
- Prepare cover letters, a reference page, or other documents, utilizing our Career Planning Guides. Career Services can then review the documents for you
- Upload your résumé into McKendree's Handshake online job system to begin applying for student jobs (off campus) or internships. See Financial Aid for Federal Work Study information
- Create or update your LinkedIn profile, and clean up all social media accounts
- Learn to network and prepare your introduction to new contacts and potential employers. Consider seeking a mentor
- Prepare and practice for interviews. Schedule a mock interview with Career Services before the actual interview
- Talk to Career Services about completing an internship for academic credit your junior and/or senior year
- Contact Career Services for resources to help research graduate or professional schools

EXPERIENCE

- Work a part-time job to gain work experience
- Get involved in campus organizations that are of interest to you. Consider clubs that relate to your career interests when evaluating choices
- Volunteer in the community
- Complete at least one internship for academic credit
- Begin to plan your job search strategies. Create or update your résumé and cover letter for review by Career Services
- Continue to build strong professional relationships with individuals
- Participate in a variety of programs that Career Services offers to students

ACHIEVE

- Utilize Handshake and attend McKendree Job Fairs to begin your job search. Begin at least six to nine months before graduation to maximize success
- Apply to graduate or professional school if that is your desired next step. Career Services has Gap Year resources if you want more experience or time before applying
- Remember to maximize your job search by utilizing a VARIETY of resources. Start the job search process early in your senior year with online resources, networking, and job fairs
- Evaluate job offers and learn more about negotiation before accepting an offer
- Join related professional organizations if student membership is an option

CREATING A RÉSUMÉ

There is no single prescribed format for résumés. However, provided below are some basic guidelines to follow to help you design an attractive and informative résumé:

- Design a résumé that best shows your qualifications for that specific employer. Using a résumé template is discouraged.
- Your résumé should be listed in reverse chronological order by the ending date. This includes all areas, such as Education, Job Experience, Honors, and Activities.
- Section titles look nice in bold font and capital letters, as do job titles and degrees.
- Put your name in bold, in a slightly larger font size than the rest of your résumé. The rest of your contact information can be the same size as your text.
- Only one telephone and email address need to be listed. Consider including your LinkedIn address if you have taken the time to create a solid profile. Make sure that email address, voicemail, and social networking sites are professional.
- Career Services recommends purchasing résumé paper. Do not staple your résumé.

Your résumé is a marketing tool that should outline your educational and employment experiences, activities, skills, honors, and projects. This document should concisely tell the employer what you can do specifically for them, which is why it is so important to customize your résumé for various positions. What does the employer need to know about you for them to bring you in for an interview?

- Cover letters should generally be sent with your résumé unless otherwise instructed by the employer. You can see cover letter writing tips and examples later in this guide.
- Do not use a font size smaller than 11-point. Utilize standard font types such as Arial, Times New Roman, and Calibri to make the text easy to read. Margins are generally one-inch margins on the top, bottom, and side.
- Do not include personal information, such as birthdate, social security number, marital status, religious/ethnic background, hobbies, pictures/headshots, or other related areas unless it is required by or relevant to an employer. For example, some federal employers require that a social security number be listed for background checks that may be conducted in the future.
- Recent graduates who are just starting out in the field do not generally need to exceed one page, but please see Career Services if you have questions about including additional information on a second page. Graduates with experience will often have a two-page resume. Put your name and page number at the top of the second page, if applicable.

- Candidates may want to consider adding a Qualifications, Profile, or Summary area as a heading in their résumé with four to six bulleted statements. Please note this is most effective if customized for each position!
- Your résumé format may look different from the samples in this guide, especially for creative fields such as art and marketing.
- Include your degree and major in your education section. Also include your date of graduation or anticipated date using a month/year format (e.g., May 2022) if you have been out for five years or less. List your GPA if it is 3.0 or higher; your major GPA can also be listed if it is significantly higher than your overall GPA.
- List job descriptions in bulleted format with active-verb statements. List in present tense if you are still in the position and past tense if it is previous experience.
- Try to include results and skills as much as possible.
- Do not use personal pronouns in your resume, such as I, me, my, etc.
- Experienced candidates typically do not need to go back more than 10 to 15 years for experience, but this can vary based on experience and position. Do not list any high school information. For traditional students, remove all high school information during the sophomore year of college.
- Make your résumé easy to scan visually; do not assume the employer will take the time to read the document thoroughly.
- Be consistent with formatting. For example, if your dates are right-hand justified for one section they should be right-hand justified for all sections.
- Use keywords for your field.
- List additional Languages spoken, if relevant, and indicate your fluency level.
- Do not include a References Available upon Request section on your résumé; secure references and have this page ready for interviews and employer requests.
- Make sure to proofread! You should also have Career Services review your résumé.
- Take a copy of your résumé to interviews.
- The problem with many résumé templates is that they can be hard to customize and may not scan correctly through an applicant tracking system. It is very important to have the flexibility to modify the layout and content of your résumé. The sample formats we have provided are easy to personalize and can be used as a base for many types of résumé.

CAREER READINESS

COMPETENCIES FOR A CAREER-READY WORKFORCE

Career & Self Development

Proactively develop oneself and one's career through continual personal and professional learning, awareness of one's strengths and weaknesses, navigation of career opportunities, and networking to build relationships within and without one's organization.

Communication

Clearly and effectively exchange information, ideas, facts, and perspectives with persons inside and outside of an organization.

Critical Thinking

Identify and respond to needs based upon an understanding of situational context and logical analysis of relevant information.

Equity & Inclusion

Demonstrate the awareness, attitude, knowledge, and skills required to equitably engage and include people from different cultures and backgrounds. Engage in anti-oppressive practices that actively challenge the systems, structures, and policies of racism and inequity.

Leadership

Recognize and capitalize on personal and team strengths to achieve organizational goals.

Professionalism

Knowing work environments differ greatly, understand and demonstrate effective work habits, and act in the interest of the larger community and workplace.

Teamwork

Build and maintain collaborative relationships to work effectively toward common goals, while appreciating diverse viewpoints and shared responsibilities.

Technology

Understand and leverage technologies ethically to enhance efficiencies, complete tasks, and accomplish goals.

WHAT IS CAREER READINESS?

Career readiness is a foundation from which to demonstrate requisite core competencies that broadly prepare the college educated for success in the workplace and lifelong career management.

SAMPLE RESUME FORMAT

1 Address is optional, but include a phone number and professional email address. You can also add your LinkedIn address.

2 This section is not required and needs to be placed lower on the resume if applying through an Applicant Tracking System, but can be beneficial if written well. Include bulleted statements that summarize your transferable and technical skills. Tailor your Profile to each employer you target and every position you seek. Tell the employer what YOU can do for THEM!

3 The most recent educational information is listed first and is followed by other universities from which you have graduated/transferred if you were involved with activities at that transfer school. Include Study Abroad schools. Remove high school information after sophomore year.

4 Full-time/part-time jobs, summer work, volunteer service, shadowing, and internships can all be included. You may choose to separate this section into a Relevant Experience and an Other Experience section. Write in reverse chronological order based on the ending date. You want to communicate previous work experience that shows the knowledge, skills, and accomplishments relevant to the position for which you are applying, if at all possible. Do not begin with phrases such as "Responsible for" or "Duties include," and do not use personal pronouns.

RÉSUMÉ CHECKLIST

- Is my résumé a good length? The preferred length is usually one page for recent graduates from a recruiter standpoint, but there are always exceptions.
- Is my résumé organized? Your résumé should be consistent in the areas that are bolded, capitalized, etc., and should be easy to follow.
- Do I use bullets to describe my experiences? You do not want long paragraphs or sentences because it takes too long to say too little. Likewise, you do not want your résumé to be too sparse with only dates and job titles.
- Do I include results in my bulleted statements? Readers want to know what you accomplished in your jobs or leadership positions.
- Is there any irrelevant information on my résumé? Employers do not need to know your height, weight, gender, health, and marital status, so leave them off your résumé. You can remove information from over 10 years ago, unless it is related to the position you are seeking. Remove high school information once you are a second-semester sophomore.
- Did I have a few people proofread my résumé? Be aware that misspellings, typographical errors, and poor grammar could cost you the job. Remember that spell check will not catch everything either. Carefully proofread before submittal.
- Am I using anything too fancy that is distracting? Fancy fonts, binders, photographs, and exotic paper stocks distract from the clarity of the presentation.
- Is my résumé professional looking? Your résumé should be typed and printed in black on one side of quality résumé paper. You may use paperclips when distributing your résumé but not staples.
- Do I attach a cover letter? While not always required, a cover letter helps direct the résumé to the proper recipient.

REMEMBER: The reason employers become interested in you is the value that you can produce for them. This value is demonstrated by what you have done. Eliminate things that do not focus on your potential value. Your résumé is a demonstration of your ability to handle written communication. Put as much care and attention into your résumé as you would for an advertisement of a new product.

CREATE AN ATS RÉSUMÉ

HOW TO CREATE AN ATS FRIENDLY RÉSUMÉ

Increase your chances of an interview by optimizing your résumé for applicant tracking systems (ATS). Include job-specific keywords and use a parsable format.

Applicant Tracking System (ATS): A human resource system that allows employers to organize, search, and communicate with large groups of applicants.

- 99% of Fortune 500 companies use ATS
- Every ATS is different

How an ATS works: When a résumé is submitted through an online application, it lands in the ATS. Most ATS scan the résumé to parse information, or pull out information, and rearrange the résumé into a candidate profile. Then recruiters/hiring managers search the ATS by keyword to retrieve a list of résumés that best match the search.

The ATS will reject about 70-80% of applicants. Only 5% of direct applications result in an interview.

Optimize or tailor your résumé every time you apply to successfully make it through the ATS.

Using Keywords: Match your résumé keywords to the job description. Include as many relevant skills and keywords as possible in your résumé, but prioritize skills mentioned multiple times.

Recruiters are likely to search for:

- Job Titles: Software Engineer, Marketing Coordinator, Tax Accountant
- Hard Skills: social media marketing, customer service, Microsoft Excel

Optimization tip

Create a résumé headline to match the role and highlight your most relevant skills and experience.

Do not “cheat” or “over-optimize” your resume. Do not copy and paste the job description in invisible white text. This is unlikely to fool recruiters.

Using a Parsable Format: Each ATS is different, but the top ATS have similar features. The main feature is résumé parsing, or extracting and organizing the parts of each résumé into structured information.

ATS Résumé Formatting for Easy Parsing

DON'TS

- No text boxes
- Do not use headers or footers. This information might get lost or cause parsing errors
- Not necessary to use a summary when applying through ATS
- Avoid tables. Some ATS have a hard time parsing information in tables and the information can get jumbled
- Avoid using columns
- No pictures. When a face is detected by the ATS it is instantly rejected
- Avoid abbreviations and acronyms unless they are used in the job description (Certified Public Accountant/CPA). Use the long form of words. Some ATS will accept M.B.A. with periods
- Avoid different versions of the same word used in a job description. (develop/development)
- The plural of a singular word is not noticed. (develop/develops)
- The vertical bar (|) cannot be read by ATS
- Do not move your document through different systems. Do not start your résumé in Word, transfer it to Google Docs, and then save it as a PDF. ATS will not be able to read the PDF

DO'S

- Use consistent formatting
- ATS approved résumé fonts:
 - Cambria
 - Garamond
 - Georgia
 - Palatino
 - Times New Roman
 - Arial
 - Calibri
 - Helvetica
 - Tahoma
 - Verdana
- Use a chronological or hybrid résumé format. Avoid the functional résumé format
- Use standard résumé section headings. Be sure to use "Experience" whether you say Experience, Work Experience, Professional Experience, Related Experience, or Volunteer Experience
- Acceptable date formats: 03/20xx or March 20xx. Always include a month. Dates that only include a year cause confusion. Be sure to right align dates
- Use standard bullets. Non-traditional bullets do not always get parsed correctly
 - Note: it may be possible to use columns as long as bullet points are used within column sections (each line in the column must start with a bullet)
- Use money ($) and percentages (%) to show results. Simply using numbers does not communicate outcomes to the ATS
- Graphic résumé cannot be read by ATS. Upload graphic résumé as additional document
- "&" is acceptable
- When submitting a résumé electronically, upload as a PDF but do not upload a scanned PDF
- Use .docx or .PDF file formats
- Use a professional file name that includes your first and last name when you save your résumé. Some ATS allow the hiring managers to see the file name for your document

REFERENCES LIST

Candidates should receive permission from an individual before using that person for a reference. Normally you list three to five references. You may lefthand justify or center the information on the page. Do not use family or friends as references unless an employer requests personal references. Examples of good references would be current or previous supervisors, faculty members, coaches, sponsors of your activities/volunteer service, and colleagues.

COVER LETTERS

1. Application materials are usually sent through email or online, so unless otherwise instructed, save as a PDF or .docx file. If mailing or using for networking, use white résumé paper and make sure that the same paper is used for your résumé and reference page.
2. The purpose of your cover letter is to obtain an interview, and writing that first letter is hard work. Put yourself in the position of the employer:
 - What would get YOUR attention?
 - What would YOU be looking for?
 - What would cause YOU to select a certain letter for further consideration?
3. Remain as brief and focused as possible. Your letter should never be over one page in length.
4. Address your letter to someone who has the authority to hire, by name and job title. If you do not have the person's name, use the person's most probable functional title. These could include Hiring Manager or Human Resources Manager.
5. Indicate the position for which you are applying, where you read about the opening, and/or by whom you were referred.
6. Outline specifically what you have to offer them. Analyze the job posting and highlight the education, experience, and qualities that the employer seeks.
7. Give the employer a reason to pick you over other applicants for an interview. Personalize your letter!
8. Demonstrate that you have conducted research on the organization. Explain why you want to work for them.
9. Convey your enthusiasm and commitment to the position.
10. Point directly to the next step, telling just what YOU intend to do next. Whenever possible, do not put the burden of responsibility on the organization to call you.
11. As with the résumé, thoroughly check your final product for spelling, grammatical, and typographical errors. Use the "spell check" option on your computer and also proofread. Ask another person to review the letter.

DESIGNING A COVER LETTER

A cover letter should often be written when applying for a position. The format that follows is an example of a cover letter/letter of application. Compose a letter with which you feel comfortable and that best presents you as a candidate for the specific position.

Return Address
City, State and Zip Code
Current Date

[3 or 4 line spaces]

Employer's Name [Hiring Manager if name is unavailable]
Employer's Job Title
Name of Company or Organization

Rebecca Weston (can use Mr./Ms. if gender preference is known)
Human Resources Director
Walls Rapgo
701 Pine Street
St. Louis, MO 36454

Dear Rebecca Weston: (can use Mr./Ms. if gender preference is known)

Walls Rapgo's commitment to innovation, along with the team-oriented and fast-paced culture, is what attracts me to your organization. Please accept this letter and résumé as my application for the position of Financial Analyst with Walls Rapgo. I learned of this position through the Director of Financial Planning Services, Mr. Charles Green. My education and experience would well serve your company.

Through my undergraduate studies and membership in academic organizations, I acquired strong skills and relevant knowledge that will help me succeed in finance. Internship positions that I held at Collins Barkley and Area Bank allowed me to apply my knowledge in this field. I had the opportunity to work closely with client portfolios and in drafting personal financial planning proposals. In addition, I was able to enhance my communication skills in these positions by providing strong customer service and marketing products to clients that would best match their needs. Leadership skills were gained through my participation in a service fraternity and the Campus Activities Board on my university campus. I know my background would be of benefit to Walls Rapgo.

Thank you for your time and consideration in reviewing my résumé. Walls Rapgo has aggressive growth plans, and I would like to be a part of that energy in the future. While the attached résumé outlines my accomplishments, an interview will allow me to further explain why I am an excellent fit for this position. You can reach me at 618.555.8888 or ejh@email.com, and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Ellen J. Hayes

EXPERIENCE COUNTS

Before you embark on your first professional job search, be sure you are always getting experience on- and off-campus to make yourself marketable for this first job. The experience can be part-time work, internships, volunteerism, or roles in organizations. Keep in mind that your network grows with every experience!

PART-TIME WORK

On-campus: Check with Financial Aid to determine your eligibility and openings for work-study positions.

Off-campus: Access Handshake through My McK. You can also visit our website and click on “Job Opportunities” for a listing of continuous local openings. All experience counts!

INTERNSHIPS

Having an internship for credit enables students with junior or senior status the opportunity to apply classroom theory and knowledge in a “real world” setting. Internships are available each term for academic credit and can be paid or unpaid. An internship can build valuable professional relationships that may play an important role in your future. Please visit Career Services early to discuss the process.

VOLUNTEERISM

Volunteering not only benefits the recipient but benefits you as well. Volunteering gives you purpose, builds professional relationships, gives back to your community, and provides you the time to practice and use skills in your area of interest. McKendree's Center for Community Service sponsors various volunteer experiences in which any student can participate, as well as a list of local agencies in need of assistance.

ORGANIZATIONS

Go to the Involvement Fair at the beginning of each fall semester to connect with a wide variety of campus organizations. You can also reach out to the Campus Activities office to find out more about all of the Registered Student Organizations on campus.

BEGINNING A JOB SEARCH

Know the type of position, company, and location for which you are searching.

Get organized and make to-do lists, keeping electronic records of where you search.

Arrange the time to search and stay on task. Spend several hours each week searching if you are unemployed and as much time as possible each day if you are employed or in school full-time.

Utilize Career Services for job fairs, workshops, online job postings, résumé/cover letter/reference page critiques, mock interviews, and campus interviews, among other services. Join our Facebook, Instagram, and LinkedIn pages for tips.

Network! Up to 80% of jobs are found via networking and a large percentage are not posted right away.

Identify and research companies (mission statements, goals, news, annual reports, etc.).

- Individual company websites.
- www.linkedin.com: Companies can be searched and “followed” to gain a lot of good information.
- www.bizjournals.com: Job postings, lists of employers, and news stories on businesses in the local area. (Information is also available in the Book of Lists at some libraries.)
- McKendree Library web page: Research companies to find contact information, classifications, business descriptions, current news, yearly finances, executives, and key competitors. Go to the main Library page; go to A-Z Database List.

Learn about openings:

- Networking
- Handshake (at the My McK page) through McKendree Career Services
- LinkedIn
- Individual company websites
- Job boards: indeed.com, monster.com, and careerbuilder.com, among others
- Free staffing agencies

Prepare and tailor all materials needed to apply for each position, including your cover letter, résumé, reference page, 30-second commercial, interview skills, interview attire, prepared questions to ask the employer, and thank you letters.

LINKEDIN

What is LinkedIn?

LinkedIn is an online professional networking service commonly thought of as "social media from a professional angle." You can create your professional profile, highlight your accomplishments, connect to other professionals, and explore career paths and professional opportunities.

Getting Started

Create your profile at www.linkedin.com. Whether you are a current student or an alumnus with many years of experience, as you create your profile, you will be prompted to create various sections that display your achievements, education, projects, positions, and involvement. Please see the next page for a great Profile Checklist directly from LinkedIn.

I've created my profile... now what?

- Keep it current. As you take new courses, join a new organization, complete a project, or develop a new skill, add it to your profile.
- Connect. As you find peers, family, coworkers, professors, and past/current supervisors, send them an invitation to connect. Personalize your message, especially for those professionals you may only know on a limited basis.
- Be a joiner. Groups are a great feature of LinkedIn, and you will find many professional organizations with LinkedIn groups. Search for those groups that relate to your major/field and join them. This will allow you to discover the current "hot topics," learn from experienced professionals, and potentially connect with those active in your field.
- Explore opportunities and career paths. Companies of all sizes post open positions on LinkedIn, so be sure to add LinkedIn to your list of job search sites. In addition, you can view the profiles of those professionals with your "dream job" to gain information on potential career paths to reach your goals.
- Research companies. LinkedIn is a great tool to learn about company culture, search to see if any McKendree alumni are working at a particular company, and conduct other company research as you learn about potential future employers. This is just one way to gain insight into a company prior to an interview.

LinkedIn Profile Checklist

PHOTO: It doesn't have to be fancy - just use your cellphone camera in front of a plain background. Wear a nice shirt and don't forget to smile!

HEADLINE: Tell people what you're excited about now and the cool things you want to do in the future.

SUMMARY: Describe what motivates you, what you're skilled at, and what's next.

EXPERIENCE: List the jobs you held, even if they were part-time, along with what you accomplished at each. Even include photos and videos from your work.

ORGANIZATIONS: Have you joined any clubs at school or outside? Be sure to describe what you did with each organization.

Background

Summary

I'm a senior at Berkeley, starting to look for roles in the financial industry. As an economics major, I'm fascinated by the invisible forces that shape our world. Why does one company succeed and another fail? Is it possible to predict which idea will be the next big thing?

As such, I've taken lots of microeconomics coursework and have interned with a local venture capital firm. And now I'd like to put that experience to good use, analyzing tomorrow's up-and-coming companies.

Experience

Venture Capital Internship BERKELEY VENTURES
Berkeley Ventures
May 2013 – September 2013 (5 months) | Berkeley, CA

Conducted research on 20 startup companies and presented my findings to the fund's board, leading to a new $1.5 million investment.

INTRODUCTION TO VENTURE CAPITAL

A presentation I gave to my classmates, based on what I learned at Berkeley Ventures

Organizations

Berkeley A Capella

EDUCATION: Starting with college, list all the educational experiences you've had - including summer programs.

VOLUNTEER EXPERIENCE & CAUSES: Even if you weren't paid for a job, be sure to list it. Admissions officers and employers often see volunteer experience as just as valuable as paid work.

SKILLS & EXPERTISE: Add at least 5 key skills - and then your connections can endorse you for the things you're best at.

HONORS & AWARDS: If you earned a prize in or out of school, don't be shy. Let the world know about it!

COURSES: List the classes that show off the skills and interests you're most excited about.

PROJECTS: Whether you led a team assignment in school or built an app on your own, talk about what you did and how you did it.

RECOMMENDATIONS: Ask managers, professors, or classmates who've worked with you closely to write a recommendation. This gives extra credibility to your strengths and skills.

Venture Capital Financing in India

May 2013

For our international Monetary Economics course, Paul and I decided to study the emerging venture capital industry in India. By looking at data from the World Bank, we were able to understand the challenges and opportunities facing this nascent sector. And we developed a series of recommendations for overcoming these challenges, which we delivered to our professor in a final term paper.

NETWORKING

1. Get involved – Find internships, do part-time work, and volunteer in the community. Find groups through LinkedIn and request to join them, if required. Join professional organizations in your field that allow student membership. Attend a local Chamber of Commerce meeting or visit their webpage for a great place to network and find out about area business contacts and employment.

2. Utilize social media – Talk about your job skills and interests on LinkedIn, Facebook, and other sites. Just remember to keep these pages appropriate.

3. Develop a pool of contacts – Start small. Choose a couple of people and work to expand your contacts. A good way to start might be an informational interview with a professional in the field. Please see details on informational interviews in this Guide. Remember, quality is better than quantity.

4. Create a business card and personal summary – Be prepared to talk about yourself. Apply yourself to the industry, but don't make it only about you. Also, create and put together samples of your work (for certain majors) to share. See Career Services for business card ideas!

5. Have a positive attitude and a smile – Body language, tone of voice, and eye contact impact your conversation and the impression you make.

6. Research and record – Keep detailed notes about your connections. Write notes on the business cards you have collected or a piece of paper immediately after the meeting or event. Think about the next step and the next conversation.

Networking involves interacting with others to exchange information and develop both professional and social contacts. This should be mutually beneficial for both parties.

7. Stay in touch – Be sure to connect with new contacts in the future. Do not pester them; simply send a message following the event, then perhaps contact them periodically or about an upcoming event. Write about specific things you have discussed or have in common. Always approach them at events where you both are in attendance. You may also contact proactive, credible references that can help you network.

8. Know your limit – Do not target one person, but also do not try to reach everyone. Make a targeted effort and focus on a few to engage in meaningful conversations.

9. Always be professional – In dress and behavior, it is important to be professional. Make a good first impression. For information on professional dress, visit Career Services.

10. Have a résumé ready – You never know who will ask, and you want to be prepared. Give your résumé to people you know in companies for which you would like to work.

11. Write thank you letters! After an informational interview or being provided with helpful information, write a thank you letter. Manners and kindness go a long way.

INFORMATIONAL (OR NETWORKING) INTERVIEWS

Informational (or networking) interviews are a great opportunity for individuals to learn more about a specific organization or career path. Informational interviews should be used to network, gain information, and help you become more confident for future job interviews. These interviews should not be used to drop off résumés and/or ask for a job. However, if these interviews are conducted correctly, job opportunities can exist in the “hidden job market,” which means jobs that are open but not advertised. One of the best ways to find out about a career field or particular position is to speak with people in that particular field. You will also find out what companies are looking for, which can make you a stronger job candidate.

The best place to start looking for informational interviews is with people you already know, and then you can expand your professional network once you talk to those people. Ask professors about professionals or alumni you might contact and attend Career Services events where you can meet alumni. You can also research specific companies and determine the names of people who have the job titles you want, and then personally contact them to request an informational interview. The more people you interview, the more information you will learn.

There are many questions that you can ask in this type of interview, and they will be dependent on the person’s position and the organization. Sample questions are provided to assist you in getting started with this type of interview. However, be spontaneous and do not feel that you must follow a specific set of questions.

SAMPLE QUESTIONS

- What is your educational background?
- What aspects of your education, including internships, best prepared you for a career?
- What was your first job after finishing school, and how did you find this position?
- Please tell me about the path your career has taken.
- What is a typical day like in your current position?
- What are your responsibilities, and what skills are particularly useful to you for them?
- What kinds of problems do you face?
- What kinds of decisions do you make?
- What percentage of your time is spent doing what duties?
- What do you like the most about your job and the field?
- What is the most challenging?
- What degree or major is preferred for entry into this field?
- How does your company differ from its competitors?
- What is a typical career path in this field (or organization)?
- What does your company do to promote professional development?
- Do you have busy and slow times of the week/month/year, or is it pretty consistent?
- What impact does your career have on your home life or personal life?
- How did you become interested in this line of work?
- What advice could you offer me in terms of academic goals, activities, or work experience to enhance my career development?
- What does your company look for in a new employee?
- What types of continuing education do you believe are important?
- What entry-level positions/titles are most common in this field?
- To which community or professional organizations do you belong?
- What are some ways to achieve success in this field?
- What is the work climate/culture in your organization?
- How long, on average, do people stay in your position?
- What other areas should I research before deciding about my area of interest/major?
- Is there a high demand for people in this profession?
- What are the requirements for this position (i.e. education, certifications, and skills)?
- How important is my GPA?
- What personal qualities do you find the most important in this position/company?
- Is relocation a factor in your job and/or this industry?
- To what professional associations do you belong? Are there any I can join now?

TIPS FOR SUCCESS

Before the Interview

- Confirm your appointment the day before by e-mail or telephone
- Research the organization before visiting with your interviewee so that you have some knowledge about his/her/their organization and industry

During the Interview

- Be punctual, allowing yourself plenty of time to find the organization and individual office. Introduce yourself and shake the interviewer's hand. State again that you are there to gain more insight and knowledge about this field. Give some information about yourself!
- Stay within the time frame you originally promised, normally 30-60 minutes
- Ask as many industry-specific questions as possible
- Take interest in what the interviewee says; you can take notes
- Make good eye contact and have good posture
- Do not ask about job openings or give out your résumé; try to gather insight into the field and this person's experience that led to success in the field
- If you feel comfortable doing so:
 - Have the interviewee critique your résumé and give you a tour
 - Ask the interviewee for referrals of others you may contact
 - Ask if you can shadow the interviewer for a day or two

After the Interview

- Send a thank-you letter to show appreciation for the interviewer's time within 24 hours
- Evaluate the interview, and determine what you have learned

CAREER FAIR TIPS

McKendree holds a Fair each February on our campus and co-sponsors several career fairs each year. Check our online calendar for dates.

There are a few main reasons employers attend career fairs. They want to increase awareness of their company by distributing literature, make contacts with candidates who may be a good fit, obtain résumés for future openings, and fill their current position openings. Candidates need to do all they can to make a positive first impression.

Some recruiters will not accept résumés at fairs and ask applicants to apply online. If this is the case, you should take advantage of the opportunity to get your questions answered. You can get valuable information about the application process, employment needs, and more.

BEFORE FAIR

- Understand your goals by asking yourself why you are going and what you hope to achieve, and then begin to prepare so that these goals can be met. Do you want to gain more information about certain companies, obtain an internship, or find a full-time position?
- Obtain a list of employers attending the fair from the Handshake online system. After deciding what employers you want to speak with, go to their webpage to learn more about them. You do not need to know everything about a company at this point, but some knowledge will help you stand out in a positive way. We encourage you not to limit your interactions with companies that have recognizable names. Please explore all your options!
- Update your résumé and have the document critiqued by Career Services. You might want to customize your résumé to certain companies. Make 20+ copies on résumé paper
- Prepare a thirty-second “commercial” about yourself. Introduce yourself, share your major/degree or job title (for alums), demonstrate knowledge about the company, tell them what you seek (internship or job, for example), and let the recruiter know what you can offer them (e.g. related coursework, activities, leadership roles, internships, relevant work experience). Make sure to also ask a couple of questions about their organization. Be aware that you might have to adjust what you say based on how busy the fair is at that time

- EXAMPLE: *My name is Ann Smith, and I am majoring in Accounting at McKendree University.
I had the opportunity recently to gain a deeper understanding of auditing while completing a year-long class project for a mid-sized company. Currently, I am completing a tax accounting internship for Turner West, where I prepare income tax returns, review financial records, and work with various tax and accounting software systems. I have enjoyed learning more about both areas, so I am looking to obtain a position in one of these two areas after my graduation this May. I have been very active during my time at McKendree, having served in leadership roles for the Accounting Club and Student Government Association, and volunteering weekly at a local animal shelter.*
- Obtain a nice padfolio, paper, and pen that you can take with you to the fair. Do not forget the breath mints. Consider creating a student business card, which includes your name, school, contact information, major/degree, and highlights of academics, activities, or experiences

DURING FAIR

- Wear professional clothes! Please see our Interview Attire page in this Guide for details
- Behave professionally, even in parking lots, restrooms, and corridors
- Don't walk around with friends or family members!
- Nonverbal communication can speak a thousand words. Look professional, have a firm handshake for each recruiter, use good eye contact, stand up straight, and avoid distracting movements such as wringing your hands, rocking back and forth, or playing with your hair. Make sure to smile! Your tone of voice should be enthusiastic and conversational
- Present your "commercial" to the employer, highlighting your skills and experience. Show why you would be the best candidate, let the employer know you are knowledgeable of the company through what you say and questions you ask, and answer questions with a good response. Obtain a business card, and ask about the time frame for hiring and how you can follow up about openings. Confirm who the contact person for the positions is
- Ask open-ended questions, avoiding questions you can find through research or salary questions
- Take short breaks to write down important information about the companies

AFTER FAIR

- Thoroughly read the information you have collected and review the notes you made
- Follow up with companies you are interested in through e-mails, phone calls, or letters. Make sure to submit any necessary applications in a timely manner

SAMPLE QUESTIONS TO ASK EMPLOYERS

1. What are the typical entry-level positions for which you hire?
2. What qualifications are you seeking in new employees?
3. Do you offer a training program? Could you please describe the training?
4. What would a typical day be like for a newly-hired graduate?
5. What are possible career paths within your company?
6. What advice would you offer to someone who wants to work for your company?
7. How can I receive further consideration for the positions you have described?
8. When do you expect to fill the available position(s)?
9. Can I provide you with any additional information?

INTERVIEWS

The interview is a very important part of the job search. It is usually the last and most decisive part of your search for a good job. Initial contacts by letter and résumé, by telephone, or in person are necessary components of the job search, but it is the interview that is usually the determining factor.

The interview is your chance to learn more about the company, and it is also their opportunity to assess your potential as an employee. Below are some qualities that interviewers are looking for in candidates:

- Personality: genuineness, self-confidence, honesty
- Communication Skills: clear and concise answers, good listening skills, poise
- Reactions: alertness, spontaneity, intelligent and relevant responses
- Energy Level: enthusiasm, appropriate eagerness
- Maturity: expression of career goals, self-awareness, appropriate seriousness/use of humor
- Motivation: willingness to learn, interest in the position
- Compatibility: ability to get along with others, sensitivity to others
- Preparation: knowledge of company and position, thoughtful responses

INTERVIEW TIPS - BEFORE, DURING, AND AFTER

- Dress professionally
- Organize your materials in a padfolio
- Bring copies of your résumé, business cards, and supporting materials
- Arrive early (but only approximately five minutes early to the interviewer's office)
- Display proper behavior the moment you arrive in the parking lot
- Take time to use the restroom and check your hair, makeup, etc.
- Have a firm handshake
- Maintain eye contact
- Be friendly, relaxed, and respectful
- Use the interviewer's last name
- Accentuate your skills
- Do not monopolize the conversation
- Smile when appropriate
- Maintain good posture
- Ask questions to show interest
- Control nervous mannerisms
- Ask for the interviewer's business card
- Make notes after the interview
- Immediately send a thank you letter

PREPARING FOR AN INTERVIEW

Now that you know the basics, follow these preparation steps for a successful interview

Ask who you will be interviewing with that day and the approximate time frame of the interview - This will allow you to conduct some research and help plan your day. Ask for parking instructions if necessary.

Practice your interviewing skills - Career Services conducts mock interviews by appointment, and you can also ask someone you trust professionally to critique you. It is also helpful to write down answers to sample questions that you may have a difficult time answering and then practice giving a response.

If possible, talk with people who work for the company - Ask them what they like/find challenging about the company, what the culture is like, and other important areas.

Research the company before the interview - Valuable information can be found on a company's website and on other web sources. Have five to seven prepared questions that relate to the company and its products, based on preliminary research that you have conducted. You will ask two or three questions, but it's better to have more in case they answer some of your questions during the interview.

Acquire appropriate interview clothing - Appropriate professional business attire is required. Please see detailed information on our Interview Attire page.

Practice exhibiting appropriate behavior during the interview - Smile, be calm, confident, and prepared. Give complete answers, speak clearly, and show enthusiasm. Make good eye contact; have a firm handshake. Use good posture and body language, and be prepared for small talk before the interview begins.

COMMON & BEHAVIORAL INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

Be prepared to emphasize your strong points, such as achievements and honors, skills and training, and reliability. Also, be prepared to account for your weaknesses, such as a low GPA, lack of work experience or no experience in the specific field, a bad reference or record of some kind, or a time gap on your résumé. Use examples from class projects, part-time/full-time jobs, internships, activities, volunteer service, and athletics. The recruiter may ask general questions to expand on your résumé or to get to know you, as well as behavioral interview questions to see how you've handled situations in the past.

Career Readiness Competencies, created by the National Association of Colleges and Employers:

1. Career & Self Development
2. Communication
3. Critical Thinking
4. Equity & Inclusion
5. Leadership
6. Professionalism
7. Teamwork
8. Technology

GENERAL QUESTIONS

ILLEGAL INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

Federal law protects job applicants from questions that might be used to discriminate against them. Interview questions should only be directly related to the duties of the job for which the applicant is applying. Illegal questions could include any about race, age, religion, marital status, family planning, sexual orientation, etc.

Below is a small sampling of some illegal questions. If asked an illegal question, try to direct the conversation toward your skills and abilities. The following questions will give you some ideas for tactful ways to approach these types of questions:

- "Do you have plans for marriage and a family?" (Family Discrimination)
 - "I am definitely committed to this company and am able to handle all of the job's responsibilities."
- "How old are you?" (Age Discrimination)
 - "Because of my age, I feel that I have fresh and exciting ideas to bring to the company!"
 - "I feel that my age is an advantage, in terms of the broad experiences I have gained and can bring to this position."
- "What is your cultural background?" (Racial Discrimination)
 - "I am very proud of my roots, but regardless of my ethnic background, I truly believe that I have the abilities and skills to qualify me for this position."
- "What religion do you practice?" (Religious Discrimination)
 - "I make it a practice not to involve my religious beliefs in my work."

QUESTIONS TO ASK INTERVIEWERS

You will most likely be asked if you have any questions. Do not ask about salary/benefits/hours on the first interview unless the interviewer discusses it!

THE COMPANY/CULTURE

1. What are the prospects for future growth and expansion of the company?
2. What new products or services is the company planning to introduce?
3. What is your favorite office tradition?
4. How would you best describe the company culture?
5. What are the current goals that the company is focused on?
6. What do employees seem to like most about this company? Least?
7. What type of orientation/training do new employees receive?
8. What's different about working here than anywhere else you've worked?
9. Read the company's website, and ask questions about current initiatives found on site

THE TEAM/DEPARTMENT

1. How is the current department organized?
2. What do you see as the strengths of this department? The biggest challenges?
3. Can you tell me about the team I would be working with?
4. How large is the department where this opening exists?
5. What are some of the department's current and anticipated special projects?

THE JOB

1. Why is the position open?
2. What are the key responsibilities of this position?
3. How does this position contribute to the company's mission/goals?
4. What does a typical day look like?
5. What types of skills is the team missing that you're looking to fill with a new hire?
6. What are the major projects I will be working on in the first six months?
7. What are some challenges that will face the person filling this position?
8. What are the skills and experiences you're looking for in an ideal candidate?

1. How does the performance evaluation system work? How often would I be formally reviewed?
2. What are the performance expectations of this position over the first 12 months?
3. What metrics or goals will my performance be evaluated against?

ADVANCEMENT OPPORTUNITIES

1. What factors are used to determine promotion eligibility?
2. What training and development opportunities are provided to the employee?

INTERVIEW ATTIRE

Research shows that it only takes six seconds or less for someone to make a decision about what type of person you are, and if you could be a good fit for their organization. This decision can be made before you even speak! It is for this reason that your attire needs to be considered a crucial part of the interviewing process. Below are guidelines for appropriate attire, accessories, and grooming habits:

→ Suits - A suit is very appropriate for interviews. Possible colors include black, pinstripe, navy blue, or dark gray. Make sure that the suit fits properly. For example, the sleeves should come to the top of your wrist, the material should fit properly in the shoulders and around the neck, and the pants should just touch the top of your dress shoes. If wearing a skirt suit, the skirt should be at or slightly above the knee. Most department or suit stores will provide guidance.

→ Ties - Try not to wear anything with bright colors or wild patterns. A tie with a small print or conservative stripes that matches the suit is ideal. The bottom of your tie should end at the middle of your belt buckle. You could try and match your color to the potential employer's colors.

→ Shirts - A blouse or long-sleeved neutral-colored shirt is a good choice, one that fits properly in the shoulders and neck. Wearing another layer under your shirt is recommended in many cases, such as a white t-shirt.

→ Shoes, Socks, and Belts - Shoes should be a complimentary color to your suit. Shoes should be freshly shined and not scuffed! Dress socks and belt should be dark in color and should match the suit; pantyhose should match your skin color. Keep any heeled shoes at a reasonable height.

→ Jewelry - Body rings such as tongue rings or eyebrow rings should not be worn. Jewelry is fine to wear as long as it does not distract from your interview.

→ Grooming - Hair, facial hair, and nails should be clean and neatly trimmed. Be aware that some employers do not allow any type of facial hair. Keep your makeup natural.

→ Miscellaneous - Clothes should be clean and neatly pressed. Avoid wearing cologne/perfume or aftershave. Try to keep tattoos covered at all times. Do not chew gum. Do not have the odor of smoke on your clothes, and/or body. Bring a padfolio or briefcase, and if bringing a purse make sure it is small.

THANK-YOU LETTERS

The thank-you letter is used to establish goodwill, express appreciation, and strengthen your candidacy. When used to follow up on employment interviews, thank-you letters should be addressed to the same person who sent you an application, as well as to your interviewers. These letters follow the same format as the cover letter, and should include the following information:

Return Address
City, State and Zip Code
Current Date	[3 or 4 line spaces]
Employer's Name (can use Ms./Mr. if you know gender preference)
Title of Position
Name of Company or Organization
Street Address, P.O. Box or Building
City, State and Zip Code	[2 line spaces]
Dear First Name Last Name, (can use Ms./Mr. if you know preference)	[2 line spaces]
Paragraph 1: Express your sincere appreciation for the opportunity to interview, and reiterate your interest in the position.	[2 line spaces]
Paragraph 2: Re-emphasize your strongest qualifications. Provide supplemental information not previously given through your résumé or interview that may help you attain the position. Also, draw attention to the good match between your qualifications and the job requirements.	[2 line spaces]
Paragraph 3: Thank the employer again for their time and consideration. Provide your phone number and email address.	[2 line spaces]
Sincerely,	[3 or 4 returns between closing and typed name]
Your signature (omit if electronic)
Your typed name

Be sure to also send a letter of appreciation after you have accepted a position to everyone who assisted you in your job search, granted you informational interviews, or served as a reference.

JOB ACCEPTANCE LETTERS

A job acceptance letter is used to formally show that you have accepted a position. Many companies require such a letter for your file. These letters follow the same format as the cover letter. Below is an example job acceptance letter:

Lebanon, IL 62254
August 1, 20xx

Terry Grapp (can put Mr./Ms. if you know gender preference)
Assistant Vice-President
Quality Company
792 Star Street
St. Louis, MO 67890

Dear Terry Grapp: (can put Mr./Ms. if you know gender preference)

This letter will serve as my formal acceptance of your offer to join the Quality Company as a Management Trainee. I am excited to begin service to the company and am confident I will be an asset to your company.

Per our conversation, I will start on August 15, 20xx and my salary will be $35,500. Please let me know if there is anything you need me to complete or participate in before my start date. You and the rest of the staff have been very helpful during this process. I look forward to joining the team.

Sincerely,

Ava M. Richards

JOB OFFER EXTENSION REQUEST LETTERS

Employers will typically give you a timeline to accept or decline a job offer. You may ask for an extension to the timeline if you need one, but it is then best to call the employer to respectfully request the extension and give a valid reason. For example, you may have a previously scheduled interview with an employer and want to honor that commitment. Please understand that employers are not obligated to grant an extension, but if they agree, you should then send an email to confirm the new date.

Julie Smith (can use Ms./Mr. if gender preference is known)
Director of Human Resources
Myer & Murphy
893 Wonder Street
St. Louis, MO 67890

Dear Julie Smith: (can use Ms./Mr. if gender preference is known)

Thank you again for the offer of Management Trainee with Myer & Murphy. I greatly appreciate this opportunity and am excited about the position. I appreciate the confidence you have placed in me with the offer of this position.

You asked for a response by August 5, but I would like to request some additional time since this is a very important decision. I want to ensure that I have all of the information needed before I respond. To follow up on our phone conversation today, I am asking you to consider my request of extending the deadline to August 14. I know that I can make a firm decision by that date.

Thank you very much for considering this request.

Sincerely,

Michael L. Wright

SALARY & BENEFITS NEGOTIATIONS

THE JOB

There are many questions to ask yourself as you evaluate the job. Do you like the key functions of the job? Are there opportunities for professional development? Is there an opportunity for future advancement? Who is your supervisor? How many hours will you work each week? Do you fit in with the company culture?

SALARY AND BEYOND

Do research on salaries in your area/field and geographic area. www.salary.com, www.glassdoor.com, www.payscale.com, and <https://www.linkedin.com/salary/> are all good places to begin. You can then follow up with professionals in your industry to ask them if the range you found through research appears to be accurate. Review similar positions on online boards in your geographic area since some will post salary ranges. Keep in mind that salaries can vary greatly depending on geographic area. If searching out of the area, research the cost of living; one example is www.bestplaces.net. Do not bring up salary until the employer does, and do not negotiate your salary until the position offer is made. If possible, do not be the first person to list the exact figure. A last thought is that you do not want to settle, but do not overestimate what you are worth.

NEGOTIATION

It is common to focus on just the salary/hourly rate, but there is much more to consider!

- Various benefits, which include paid time off, various types of insurance, retirement, and a relocation allowance. For example, Job A may have a higher starting salary than Job B. However, after determining how much vacation/sick leave granted, how much you pay for various insurance premiums, tuition reimbursement, if the employer contributes to your retirement account, and parking, among other factors, you may actually earn more at Job B!
 - Does the employer offer various types of insurance, such as health/dental/vision, disability, life, and accidental death? You need to know what you pay monthly, what your out-of-pocket costs will be, and if you must wait for coverage to begin.
 - What plan is offered for retirement, what do you and the employer contribute, and do you have to wait a certain amount of time before you can enroll in the plan?
 - What amount of vacation/sick/holiday paid leave do you earn each month or year? Do you have to wait a certain amount of time to use leave?
 - Do they offer a signing bonus? Certain industries do.
 - Is a relocation allowance available for your moving and transportation costs?

If you cannot negotiate salary, you may be able to negotiate vacation leave or something else.

JOB OFFER

Make sure to get the offer in writing through an email message or formal letter. Information will typically include the position title, salary/hourly rate, and start date. We recommend also getting benefits such as sick/vacation leave, health care, and retirement outlined.

OTHER THINGS TO CONSIDER

Job functions and career path - Do you like what you will be doing on a daily basis? What future promotion opportunities are available? What will you learn in this position that will help you further your skill set?

Location - Do you like the geographic location or will you have to move?

How much time will you spend on the commute?

Hours and travel - Will the position require evening and weekend hours, or are the hours typically a standard schedule? Are there flex hours options?

Will you be able (or required) to travel?

SALARY NEGOTIATION PROMPTS

When asked about salary expectations in an interview...

I would like to know more about the position and various benefits, but I am confident that your organization offers a competitive market salary.

If the pay is lower than you expected through research...

Thank you for this offer! I am excited about this position and working for (xxx), and am confident that I can contribute a great deal. However, according to my research, the average salary range for someone with my qualification in this position is (xxx). Would you be able to match that amount?

If you have another offer with a higher starting salary/compensation package....

Thank you for this offer! I am excited about this position and working for (xxx), and am confident that I can contribute a great deal. However, as you know, I have been interviewing with other employers and do have another offer with a higher salary. Is your offer negotiable?

RESIGNATION LETTERS

While most people will give a resignation to their supervisor in person, it is also good to give written notice for the employee records. It is advisable to give two weeks of notice or more based on what the staff member agreed to upon acceptance of the position.

Dear Julie Smith: (can use Ms./Mr. if gender preference is known)

This letter is to formally notify you of my resignation as Manager of Fun with Myer & Murphy, as I discussed with John Smith (THIS IS THE INDIVIDUAL'S SUPERVISOR) earlier today. I am more than willing to work two weeks after this date and to be contacted in the future with any questions to ensure a smooth transition.

I want to thank you, John, and various others I have worked with for the experience and opportunities gained during my time with Myer & Murphy. I wish you and the company all the best. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Michael L. Wright
